BIG FOUR OF GOLF WORLD WILL MEET

LAKEWOOD, N. J., November 26.—The Big Four, of the Eastern golfing world, will meet to-morrow in the first division finals of the autumn Lakewood tournament. Fred Herreshoff is to oppose Findlay S. Douglas and Walter J. Travis will be pitted against Jerome D. Travers. All are New Yorkers, and the last three named former national champions. Herreshoff has been national runner up. No such quartet of stars has met in the semi-finals of a tournament this season, nor were the four ever bunched before at that stage of the premier event. Fine weather is predicted for to-morrow, and the struggle should prove of great interest. Douglass administered the severe defeat of nine up and eight to go to J. Smith, of the Wilmington (Del.) Country Club, this afternoon. Travers, of the Montclair Club, beat H. M. Forrest, Lakewood, five up and four to go, while Travis, Garden City, beat W. R. Simons, Westbrook, three up and two to go. Herreshoff beat J. A. Janin, Fox Hills, two up and one to go.

THANKSGIVING FOX HUNT.

Lynchburg Club Members Enjoy Long Drive, But Are Unsuccessful.

RUSTBURG, VA., November 26.—A number of the members of the Lynchburg Fox Club came out to take their Thanksgiving hunt in this locality. The weather was ideal, and they had gone so far in preparing for the occasion as to send to North Carolina and get B. P. Tinnelle and his famous dozen foxhounds, who are reputed to have caught a dozen foxes this fall; but, notwithstanding these favorable conditions, they could not get up a fox. The members of the club, in ## company with a number of others who joined them here, had breakfast served at the Fountain Hotel at the early hour of 6 o'clock A. M., immediately after which they started for the chase. They had about a fifteen-mile ride, covering the section in the neighborhood of Colonel Miller's old home, then down by the old Vendergrift place, back by S. M. Wiscarsville, and up by Petty's Siding, and back to Rustburg, reaching here something after 12 o'clock noon.

During the morning the hounds discovered three foxes, but in neither case were they able to jump the fox. However, the day was not without its pleasures, as the party had a pleasant outing and a delightful Thanksgiving dinner at the Fountain Hotel.

Among those following the chase were: J. M. B. Lewis, M. P. H. B. T. Tinnelle, Herman Shultz, F. L. Knight, R. T. Martindale, S. T. Withers, W. W. Collins, Paul C. Edmunds, James E. Edmunds, William Beasley, J. H. Morris, Lunsford Lewis, P. B. Winfree, L. H. Browning, A. H. Light, and Stokes Reid.

PHILADELPHIA BASEBALL CLUB CHANGES HANDS

PHILADELPHIA, PA., November 26.—The Philadelphia National League Baseball Club was sold to-day to a syndicate of which Horace S. Fogel, of this city, is the head. The price paid by the new owners is said to have been $350,000. Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago Club of the National League, repudiated his organization at the conference in order to see that the provisions of the National League constitution were properly observed. The fact that Mr. Murphy was present caused a rumor to be circulated that he would be financially interested in the new management, but this Mr. Murphy subsequently denied. The Philadelphia club was formerly owned by Clarence Wolf, a banker; James P. McNichol, a publisher, politician, and the late Israel W. Durham, also a politician leader.

President Fogel is to-night that it was the intention of the new owners to strengthen the local club by the purchase of new players. An offer of $15,000 was made to President Murphy for the release of Kling, providing the National Commission will reinstate the famous Chicago catcher.

Kling Not Released.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, November 26.—President A. B. Herman, of the National Baseball Commission, to-night, when asked concerning the matter of the release of catcher John Kling by the Chicago National League team for $15,000 to Philadelphia, said: "Kling is ineligible at present, but the commission will take up the matter unless he starts playing with Philadelphia or some other organized team. Then his case will be taken up."

BIG COOKING MAIN

Pulled Off on Thanksgiving in Remote Section of North Carolina.

RALPHIGH, N. C., November 26.—A big cooking main, as best the main learned to-day, between a bunch of sports of North Carolina and South Carolina—a kind of interstate meet—was pulled off Thanksgiving Day far back in the mountains of Buncombe county, near the Vanderbilt property. It was so far back in the wilds that no danger existed from the interference of officers. Rumor has it the main lasted two days and was a huge affair, and some of the finest birds in North and South Carolina were in the pit. The honors, it seems, went to the North Carolina boys, who took three fights to the "tallmaisters" two. On account of the State law against cock fighting, very little can be learned, but more than $10,000 changed hands, according to leaks from the inside. The main last year occurred in "the dark corner" of South Carolina, with North Carolina taking the North and the South Carolina men the money.

TAFT NOT RUSHING WORK ON MESSAGE

China. A White House official discovered his condition and advised him to return to his home. He has been living for the past three months in Indianapolis, where he has been with his mother and sister now live in Peoria, Ill. President Taft is too busy to sit for portraits. Marquise Cecelia de Wittworth, the Paris painter, asked for a sitting to make a painting, but was informed that the President cannot spare the time now. The painting has been referred to as intended for Xiao, but it is said at the White House that this is not true.

Talent Fares Well.

TAMPA, FLA., November 26.—The talent fared better in the second day's racing here, three funtimes selling, heavily played second choice bringing home the money. The disappointment of the day was in the second race, when Maximum, favored in the betting and heavily played, was left at the post. The card was not an especially attractive one, the fields being small.

First race—five furlongs—Eva Tanager (Glasner), 8 to 5; first, Flashing (Gaston), 15 to 1; second, Time, 102 (Burton), 25 to 1; third, Time, 194 2-5. Merman, Restless Lady, Aisline and Lexington ran.

with good people, gave them all a chance, got together a chorus that could both sing and dance, and employed one of the best musical directors in the country. Those who recall R. L. Giffen's season of musical stock will remember the brilliant work of that company, which did not pay because it was too expensive for summer stock in Richmond. The artistic singing of Giffen's company, was due to his musical director, Hans Linne, and to this same Mr. Linne belongs the credit for having trained Richard Carle's chorus. One hardly expects to find in musical comedy a chorus that attacks with the utmost precision, passes from piano to triple fortissimo and back to pianissimo with perfect gradation, and ends a phrase as one voice, and when it is found, one bows to the musician who brought it about. Everybody knows Carle and his peculiar style of comedy—he is a top-notch in that line—but as a producer he merits more than a word. To him, presumably, is due the praise for having engaged the people who helped to make the place a "hot" spot. Carle, as the artist, was manly, and sang well enough; Sylvain Langlois, as the man from Idaho, has a good baritone voice; Joseph O. Coffman was very amusing as a stage negro with impossible lines; Adele Rafter was attractive, as she always is, and made a hit; and there was one chorus girl who sang an obligato to the chorus, and had a few bars alone, who "sang the head off everybody's brains" and was a star in a bathing suit, and right there the manager of the house should be thanked for having the vision to bring in such a scene and the song "The Modest Little Model" without a hint from any one in authority. A Richmond audience would not have liked it, and it was omitted because he said so.

If George Cohan was worth $250, Richard Carle was worth $100,000.

PRESS NOTES FROM THE THEATRES.

News of Manchester

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, 1103 Hull Street.

Frank Farmer, who has been in custody as a suspect in the Williams assault case, was released yesterday morning, since nothing substantial in connection with the attack could be attributed to him. The police, although on the alert, have made no further arrests, and it is probable that arrests will be made in a few days. The donation of Williams was reported as favorable last night, and if no complications set in he will doubtless recover. He is in a very weak condition, however, having lost much blood. Williams claims that he was robbed of a roll of money, but this is doubted by the police, since several bills were found in his pockets. His watch is missing, although that may have been lost previously.

Church Entertainment.

The Woman's Sewing Circle of Stockton Street Baptist Church gave an entertainment at the parsonage, 208 East Twelfth Street, last evening. A silver offering for the benefit of the parsonage fund was collected at the door. An oyster supper was given by the Baptist Church Workers of Forest Hill and Woodland Heights last night at thirty-first Street and Spring Hill for the building fund of the church.

Cottillon Club.

The Manchester Cottillon Club tendered a brilliant german at Beivedor in Richmond, last night. A large crowd of young society belles and their escorts made their way across Free Bridge about 9 o'clock.

On Thanksgiving night the Dixie Athletic Association held a gymnasium meet. The Monday and Tuesday night classes were the competitors, and the events included volleyball, basketball, fifty-yard dash, chinning contest, standing broad jump, running high jump and tug-of-war.

Thanksgiving Sermon.

To-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock the Councils of Rocky Ridge, No. 36; New South, No. 8; Davis, No. 27, and Liberty, No. 13, will march in a body to the West End Methodist Church for their annual Thanksgiving sermon as ordered by the proclamation issued by the State Council. Rev. T. C. Miles, of Clifton Street Baptist Church, will deliver the sermon.

1,500 Turkeys Eaten.

Manchester devoured, it is estimated, about 1,500 turkeys on Thanksgiving. The price was unduly high, but the traditional bird was too costly for some, the economically disposed made up on chickens, rabbits and young porkers. Cranberries were cheaper than usual, and housekeepers were mercifully thankful for this small favor.

Although the religious celebration of the festival began Thursday, nearly all the churches in this city will have their regular Thanksgiving services to-morrow.
